BARKER'S INDIA PROGRAM

INDIA TRADITIONAL (HERITAGE) PROGRAM- OPEN TO NON-RESIDENT INDIANS (NRI) OR OVERSEAS CITIZENS OF INDIA (OCI)

The Traditional Program is open to families that include one Indian passport holder (NRI) or one Overseas Citizen of India (OCI) cardholder. In this program, families are given priority in adopting children without identified specialized needs. OCI and NRI prospective families are eligible to adopt a young child considered overall healthy, though families should note that wait times tend to be longer in this program. NRI and OCI families may wait in the Traditional and Waiting Child program simultaneously.

INDIA WAITING CHILD PROGRAM (NO HERITAGE REQUIREMENT)

The India Waiting Child Program is open to families of most backgrounds who are open to "Waiting Children," or children in India with moderate to significant identified specialized needs. Children of all ages need families through this program, though especially children over the age of 8. Large sibling groups of 3+ children are also in need of families through this program.

INDIA CHILDREN IN NEED

AGE AT REFERRAL & PLACEMENT:

Children in need of families through this program range in age from 6 months to 17 years, including children with needs ranging from minor to significant and sibling groups.

CARE IN COUNTRY:

Children typically reside in orphanages, called Specialized Adoption Agencies (SAA).

BIRTH PARENTS:

Children typically come into care because they are lost or abandoned. In the unusual case that children are surrendered for adoption by their birth parents, there is still no background available on the birth parent. As a result, limited to no background information is available from the time before a child came into care.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Referrals presented include limited medical information (but allow families to ask for a doctor visit), relinquishment history, limited development information, and a photo of the child.

GENDER:

Families can request specific biological sex but need to be aware of delays when doing so.

COMMON NEEDS:

Traditional program: Mild developmental delays, malnutrition, minor/correctable issues, impacts of institutional care, potential abuse, and neglect history. Children matched through the traditional program are considered overall healthy with the potential for normal growth and development.

Waiting Child Program (No Heritage Requirement) :

Moderate to significant specialized needs, including all of the above listed. Common needs seen are HIV+, developmental delays, developmental disabilities, missing limbs, hearing/vision issues, and cerebral palsy.
